Budget Decisions for Board

Cash Balance

TSA traditionally maintained a cash cushion of ~$10,000 in order to guarantee cash flow to pay for the annual TSA Championship, even during the 13 years no Championship meet was on the schedule.

Since then, TSA has continued to maintain a cash balance at the same general level, apparently due to a combination of fiscal prudence and institutional inertia.

With the Championship back on the schedule it seems prudent to maintain a similar cash balance, although the arrangements for the 2012 championship do not require TSA to pay anything up front to our hosting team (their payment will come from entries, heat sheets, t-shirts, etc.).

In addition, we have included in the budget $1,800 worth of one-time website upgrades, some of which have been on hold for several years. The chief upgrade is to allow the TSA Executive Committee and committee chairs (as needed) to update the TSA website without needing to go through the web consultant. Right now, only the main page can be updated. There will also be some enhancements that reps have requested such as the ability to enter team records manually (for when a team wants to enter a record set at an invitational). And because we use email so much for communication, a new feature will require a new TSA rep to enter an email address when they are setting up their account.

In order to maintain our cash cushion and pay for these upgrades, the budget proposal recommends a slight dues increase - essentially bringing dues back to their 2007 levels (yes, dues have been trending down in recent years).
